

Consultative Meeting with Presidential Climate Commission

Date: 29 July 2022

1. INTRODUCTION

The Presidential Climate Commission (PCC) and the NPC held a consultative meeting on 29 July 2022 to discuss work and programme alignment.

2. KEY DISCUSSION POINTS

The meeting addressed challenges facing the country such as disaster management, climate change, the state of the economy, governance, and the capacity of the state to respond to these challenges. The two commissions committed to working with and advising government in addressing the scourge of corruption, lack of capacity, resource constraints, energy insecurity, the growing polarisation between social partners as well as the diminishing levels of trust between citizens and government.

3. CONCLUSION

The meeting resolved to work together in mobilising resources and expertise from local and international partners and stakeholders to ramp up the capacity of public institutions, including local government, to respond to the immediate challenges.
